

Invitation: Come along to our Developing Future Leaders session

Are you a programme or placement manager? Want to share best practice on leading graduates?

The NHS Leadership Academy would like to invite you to a Developing Future Leaders session. This three-hour training session aims to support you in leading our future leaders as they progress through the Graduate Management Training Scheme (GMTS). This is a great opportunity to work with your peers, sharing best practice, knowledge and expertise and will also:

- Compliment the regional training provided by your Local Leadership Academy
- Help you understand the requirements of working with and leading individuals on the Grad Scheme.

This session was developed by the award-winning The Smarty Train, who are experts in the field of developing leaders and will also facilitate on the day. To ensure the format is grounded in the reality of your role, The Smarty Train worked with key GMTS stakeholders - including alumni and placement & programme managers.
